Program Outcomes

Faculty Development Program (FDP)

Title: Wellness and Mental Health in Academic Settings

Dates: August 8, 2022 – August 12, 2022

Duration: 5 Days

Objective:

The FDP aimed to enhance faculty understanding and skills related to wellness and mental health within academic settings. The program focused on equipping participants with practical tools and strategies to promote mental well-being and manage stress effectively among students and staff.

Program Outcomes:

1. Enhanced Knowledge:

- Faculty gained a comprehensive understanding of the concepts of wellness and mental health, including the impact of stress and mental health issues on academic performance and personal well-being.

2. Practical Skills:

- Participants acquired practical skills for identifying mental health issues, implementing stress management techniques, and creating a supportive environment in their classrooms and departments.

3. Resource Utilization:

- Attendees became familiar with resources and support systems available for mental health and wellness, both within the institution and externally, enhancing their ability to guide and support students and colleagues effectively.

4. Improved Communication:

- The program facilitated improved communication skills related to discussing mental health and wellness topics with students, colleagues, and staff, fostering a more open and supportive dialogue within the college community.

5. Increased Awareness:

- There was a notable increase in awareness regarding the importance of mental health and wellness in academic settings, leading to a more proactive and engaged approach among faculty.

Program Outcomes

Faculty Development Program (FDP)

Title: Ethical Issues in Teaching and Research

Dates: December 10, 2022 – December 16, 2022

Duration: 7 Days

Objective: The FDP was designed to provide faculty members with a robust understanding of ethical principles and practices relevant to teaching and research. The program aimed to enhance participants' ability to navigate ethical challenges and maintain high standards of integrity in their academic roles.

Program Outcomes:

1. Enhanced Understanding of Ethical Principles:

- Faculty members developed a deep understanding of key ethical principles and standards applicable to teaching and research, including academic integrity, honesty, and respect for intellectual property.

2. Practical Skills for Ethical Decision-Making:

- Participants acquired practical skills for identifying and addressing ethical dilemmas in academic settings. This includes strategies for making informed and ethical decisions in both teaching and research contexts.

3. Application of Ethical Standards:

- Faculty learned how to apply ethical standards effectively in their professional activities. This included developing and implementing practices that promote academic integrity and prevent misconduct.

4. Improved Awareness of Common Ethical Challenges:

- The program highlighted common ethical challenges faced in teaching and research, such as plagiarism, data manipulation, and conflicts of interest. Participants gained insights into how to handle these issues proactively.

5. Development of Ethical Policies and Guidelines:
